Welcome to the Institute of Molecular Pathology (IMP), Institute of Molecular Biotechnology (IMBA) and Gregor Mendel Institute (GMI)

FIRE ALARM:

The alarm is a rising and falling siren.

The institutes are equipped with an automatic fire alarm system.

The Vienna fire brigade will be called automatically.

Fire doors close automatically (Warning: the closed doors can affect your accustomed perception of the corridors).

Lifts will automatically take you to the nearest escape exit and remain unusable until the all-clear. Follow the green signs to the closest marked fire exit.

CORRECT BEHAVIOUR IN CASE OF FIRE

Important: Stay Calm!

1. ALARM
Activate one of the push-button alarms
2. EVACUATE
People in the danger area
3. EXTINGUISH
Use extinguishers

ESCAPE ROUTES

Follow the green escape route signs and leave the building at the closest marked fire exit.

After leaving the building wait at the assembly area marked on the escape route diagram.

IN CASE OF ACCIDENTS:

There are numerous trained first-aiders in all institutes. A list with telephone numbers is attached to the first aid cabinets.

CORRECT BEHAVIOUR IN CASE OF ALARM

FIRST AID & EMERGENCY EQUIPMENT

Always stay calm and call for help

A defibrillator is kept at the IMBA/GMI and IMP reception area.

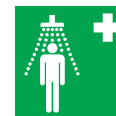

There are First-Aid cabinets in the corridors and the labs.

Eye-wash equipment is provided in the labs and at the marked positions.

An emergency shower, if installed, is located above the entrance to every lab.

RESTRICTIONS IN THE INSTITUTES:

Visitors must be escorted by an internal member of staff.

Entry to special labs such as radio-active labs, Cat. 2 cell culture labs, animal facility and toxics storeroom is only permitted after respective instruction and in the company of an authorised member of staff.

The general legal regulations and internal security regulations are to be adhered to (available at the reception).

Please observe the general non-smoking regulation in the buildings and also in some outdoor areas.

IMPORTANT TELEPHONE NUMBERS:

The 5 points of an emergency call:

1. Who is calling?
2. What happened?
3. Where did it happen?
4. How many are injured?
5. Wait to answer any questions?
